516 Main Street offers the opportunity to acquire a fully leased, two-tenant investment property in the heart of Downtown Longmont, one of the Front Range's most dynamic and closely watched markets. With a diverse tenant mix, meaningful remaining lease term, strong annual rent growth, and approximately $515,000 in recent capital improvements, this is a true turnkey investment positioned to benefit from the continued momentum of Downtown Longmont.

As Longmont continues its evolution into one of Colorado's most desirable downtown cores—with national recognition, a flourishing restaurant scene, rapid residential growth, and the anticipated arrival of the Sundance Film Festival to neighboring Boulder County—Main Street has become a destination rather than simply a corridor. Investors increasingly view Longmont as offering many of the qualities that originally drew people to Boulder, but with greater room for growth and value appreciation.

DOWNTOWN LONGMONT MOMENTUM

Downtown Longmont has quietly become one of Colorado's strongest urban success stories. Continued population growth, major private investment, expanding restaurant and entertainment options, and a vibrant calendar of community events have transformed Main Street into a regional destination.

With Boulder County preparing to welcome the Sundance Film Festival beginning in 2027, the area's national profile is expected to rise even further. Longmont stands to benefit from increased tourism, business activity, and continued investment while maintaining the authenticity and accessibility that have made it increasingly attractive to residents and businesses alike.

Some have started calling Longmont "the next Boulder." Whether or not you embrace the comparison, one thing is clear: the market's trajectory has investors paying close attention.

516 Main Street represents the rare opportunity to acquire a professionally improved, fully leased Main Street asset in one of Colorado's most compelling growth markets. It is the kind of property investors look back on and say, "I wish I'd bought on Main before everyone else figured it out."
