By late spring, shoppers will find leafy greens, root vegetables, herbs, early organic vegetables, strawberries, zucchini, cucumbers, tomatoes, peppers, beans, mushrooms, green onions, sugar peas, and more. A Produce Guide can be found on our website with more information on seasonal produce availability. In addition to produce, shoppers can browse unique and stunning florals, baked goods, jams, breads, cheeses, and other locally produced items.

"We're proud to celebrate the vibrant community that makes the Birmingham Farmers Market so special—a place where local farmers, makers, and small businesses come together to offer fresh produce, baked goods, and artisan products, all made right here in Michigan," said Jaimi Brook, Birmingham Shopping District Operations and Events Manager. "Each week, visitors can explore more than 50 vendors, including returning favorites like Fusilier Farms, The Sweetest Gourmet, Triple B Honey, and Pita Post, along with exciting new additions such as The Mitten Peanut Butter Company, Eat Oats, and Egg Roll Diva. We invite everyone to come out, shop local, and enjoy a time filled with great food, live music, and fun for all ages."
