

ARPA program overview

Pop-Up Art Cart:

The Art Cart is an amenity provided to the public visiting the Peace Plaza or other public spaces, providing an easy and complimentary craft activity with assistance from a helpful guide.

Sidewalk Sessions:

Sidewalk Sessions is an amenity provided to the public visiting the Peace Plaza or other public spaces, providing public performances by local and regional musicians.

Games on the Grass:

Games on the Grass is an amenity provided to the public visiting Central Park or other public spaces, providing a cart with outdoor lawn games and a ping pong table to passively activate the park and enjoy the green space.

Peace Plaza / Heart of the City rentals relaunch:

Peace Plaza's renovated eastern section and refreshed western section were relaunched as publicly available rental spaces in 2022. Rental guidelines were rewritten with City input.

Program reflection

Goals:

To bring community members and visitors into public spaces downtown and give them an opportunity to participate in programming while passing time between appointments or before/after dining or shopping downtown.

To engage people in and enliven downtown's public spaces, build connections with our downtown, and instill habits of seeking regular opportunities to spend time downtown.

Key learnings:

Music and art go well together: the combination of Sidewalk Sessions and the Pop-Up Art Cart has increased attendance for both programs and encourage attendees to linger longer within Peace Plaza.

The Games on the Grass cart was not getting much traffic or attention in Central Park and moving it back to Peace Plaza was a welcome amenity for visitors. We plan to move it to The Deck this fall.

It has been challenging to gather traditional survey responses from passive programming, but the in-person response to Summer in the City programming has been positive for performers, artist facilitators, and attendees alike. We have had the joy of witnessing many smiling faces and an outpouring of gratitude for this offering.
